

Arca R1000 Personal Cash Recycler

Arca R1000

Designed for the individual user.

The Product

The perfect solution when privacy matters. The Arca R1000 is the only cash recycler on the market designed for an individual user. When you want to create a more private banking experience for your customers, the Arca R1000 is optimal; it's a versatile machine built on a proven, reliable cash recycling platform.

Having cash inventory secured right at their fingertips means your sales sta can help relieve busy teller lines. Not only does this reduce wait times, it gives your sales staff the opportunity to connect with customers during the branch visit to have conversations that generate revenue and improve customer service.

Right Size, Right Fit

The Arca R1000 was designed with the universal banker in mind, bringing cash automation to locations like universal banker desks, oces and pods for more private banking transactions. It can be positioned discreetly under a desk allowing sales sta to also perform secure cash transactions.

The Arca R1000 accommodates both sitting and standing work stations and solves problems such as an odd number of tellers. Its capacity is perfectly suited for the cash needs of universal bankers and customer service staff.
